

they started in a lab...

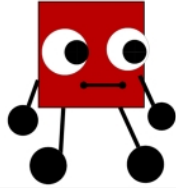

Bartholomew by Rhannon S.

but they were too strong to contain, and before you know it, it was all over the town crawling into people's skin.

they only realized when it was too late...

they ripped apart their flesh and feasted on them taking over their bodies infecting more but some were lucky enough to die instead of getting infected... some killed themselves, or some were killed by remaining survivors only thing that the parasites couldn't infect were the mouths... they had to feed on their own they started in a lab...

Bartholomew by
Rhiannon S.

but they were too strong to contain,

and before you knew it, it was all over the town crawling into people's skin..

they only realized when it was too late...

they ripped apart their flesh and feasted on them taking over their bodies infecting more but some were lucky enough to die instead of getting infected... some killed themselves.. or some were killed by remaining survivors

only thing that the parasites couldn't infect were the animals...they had to fend on their own

